To whom it may concern,

I had the pleasure of working closely with Sarah Lee at Dallas Independent School District. Sarah is an incredibly creative and innovative Graphic Designer. She is responsible for completing high volume graphics for various clients each day. With each assignment, Sarah delivered well thought-out designs for her clients while always adhering to the District's guidelines and often within short deadlines. She is highly organized and greeted each day and assignment with enthusiasm and innovation.

Sarah excels at working independently as well as being a reliable and collaborative team member. She oversees all the design projects for the District's Early Learning Department. This involves setting and leading meetings with various members of their department, creating and organizing their campaign designs, and creating a schedule of deliverables for the designs to meet their deadlines. Sarah has adapted to the district's fast-paced environment and completed all projects within their deadlines. Along with managing the Early Learning Department's projects, she is always willing to help her fellow designers with their projects when needed.

Sarah has also led the design team in projects, creating the concept along with an assignment list for her peers. Her managing capabilities are exemplary, as I have left her as my point of contact when out of the office on several occasions. Each time Sarah went above and beyond, making sure all was taken care of before my return. She is always willing to help support the District at events outside of the normal working hours and always shows excitement and passion while doing so.

Sarah is an intelligent, intuitive, creative and hard working designer. She seeks out challenging work and ways to grow her skillset, not just for herself, but also for the betterment of the design team. I'm certain her creative eye and strong work ethic will make her a valuable addition to any creative team.

Sincerely,

Iqra Hasan
